

Bob Assenberg is Deputy Managing Director of Triodos Investment Management B.V., which is 100% owned by Triodos Bank N.V., The Netherlands.

He is responsible for management and development of funds for renewable energy and energy efficiency in developing countries. Firstly for the Triodos Renewable Energy for Development Fund, with its founding base in the mid nineties, a fund-of-funds for renewable energy in developing countries and economies in transition.

Furthermore he is supervising the establishment of the Global Energy Efficiency and Renewably Energy Fund (GEEREF), a fund-of-fund structure based in Luxembourg, with the European Commission as core sponsor and promoter and with Triodos as the expected fund manager.

At present Bob is also Fund Manager of Triodos Fair Share Fund, a microfinance fund for developing countries that is open for Dutch retail investors. He is a member of the Board of Directors for two investee organisations.

Prior to joining Triodos Bank, Bob gained extensive experience in corporate finance, development finance and investment management with several multinational companies and private development-oriented organisations in the Netherlands, UK, Bosnia and Serbia.